Gibson Found "Not Guilty" Of Armed Robbery

Berman Gibson and six others were found not guilty on charge of armed robbery and assault with intent to kill in Letcher County Circuit Court Friday.

The jury deliberated an hour and a half in arriving at its decision after listening to more than three days of testimony.

Commonwealth Attorney Emmett G. Fields sought to prove for the State that Gibson, leader of the "roving pickets" who demonstrated in 1962 against small coal operators in this area, and 6 followers beat and robbed several non-union miners on their way to work for South-East Coal Company in Letcher County, in October, 1962.

Chief witnesses for the state were Sherman Neace and Darrell Turner, both of Perry County, who allegedly participated in the beating and robbery, under Gibson's direction.

Neace and Turner, were under indictment on the same charge as Gibson, but given separate trials so they could testify for the State.

The two said that Gibson planned the roadblock that stopped the workers' cars, and called the signals during the beating of the men.

One of the beating victims, James Powell, identified Gibson as the man who gave the orders while the beating incident was in progress on Pine Mountain.

On cross examination, however, he admitted that he had told the grand jury earlier that he could not be sure about the identity of Gibson at the scene of the incident.

Gibson and the pickets denied they had any part in the beatings. Gibson said he testified that he met Neace and others as they were coming off Pine Mountain after the time of the beatings.

He quoted Neace as telling him then: "We'd better get out of here because there has been some trouble on the mountain."

Gibson said he did not learn about the violence until later the next day when he heard a radio news report.

The Whitesburg trial had several interesting sidelights take place as the witnesses testified on the stand.

Letcher County Sheriff Lewis Hall arrested the wife of Neace after she was found to be carrying a pistol in her handbag. She said she had been threatened.

After that, all persons entering the courtroom were searched for weapons.

Then on Thursday night, one of the attorneys for Gibson's defense joined Neace and Turner in the Letcher County Jail.

Neace and Turner were there for safe keeping as key witnesses for the State. The attorney was locked up for public drunkenness.

Voluntary Auto Check Program Launched By Governor Breathitt

A voluntary auto check program, giving every motorist a chance to do his part in making his community a safer place to live, has been launched by Kentucky Governor Edward T. Breathitt.

With approval of the Kentucky Department of Public Safety headed by Commissioner Glenn Lovern, check lanes will be set up by communities throughout the state. Vehicles pronounced safe will be given a 1964 safety-check windshield sticker.

Upon affixing one of the stickers to his own car, the Governor urged all motorists to "check your car, check your driving, check accidents." Even our best drivers, he said, are poor risks when they drive with bad brakes, tires or parts.

Items to be checked in a national program sponsored by the Auto Industries Highway Safety Committee and LOOK magazine, include brakes, lights, steering, tires, exhaust system, glass, windshield wipers and washers, rearview mirror, horn and seat belts.

Designating the months of May and June as "safety check months," Breathitt in a proclamation said:

"All traffic organizations, public information media, service and trade associations, industries, schools and churches are hereby urged to take an active part in this traffic safety program, and join in the Circle of Safety to help promote 'Safety in the Sixties'."

State safety awards in a similar program last year were won by the Kentucky cities of Glasgow and Lebanon.

Richard Ward Is Senior Member Of U.K. Fraternity

Richard Ward

Richard Ward, son of Judge and Mrs. Don A. Ward, was named the Outstanding Senior Member of the Phi Alpha Delta legal Fraternity at the annual Awards Night Banquet of the University of Kentucky which was held at the Phoenix Hotel Friday evening, April 10.

Richard is a Past President of the Fraternity, having served in that capacity for the year 1963.

Honorable Stanley F. Reed, a former Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court was the guest speaker at the Banquet.

Mrs. Gene Combs, Hazard, president of the Garden Club of Kentucky, Inc., presided Thursday at the annual re-dedication of Kentucky's floral clock on the Capitol grounds in Frankfort.

Seated at the left are Governor Edward T. Breathitt, who spoke briefly at the ceremony, and Mrs. Robert K. Cullen, Frankfort, custodian of the floral clock funds which have financed the purchase of recreational equipment for several State child-care agencies.

A trio from "Stars in My Crown," the Kentucky Lake State Park musical drama, entertained several hundred onlookers gathered for the dedication.

New Council Plans Development Of Business, Industry

The further development of Appalachian Regional Hospitals, which operates five community hospitals in Eastern Kentucky, is the objective of a newly organized council of 14 members representing Kentucky business, industry and professions.

The development council was organized April 27, at Harlan, Ky. Elected president was Wilson W. Wyatt of Louisville, former lieutenant governor of Kentucky. Lee Crutchfield, Hazard automobile dealer, was named vice president, and Glenn C. Spradlin, president of the First Guaranty Bank at Martin, was chosen secretary.

ARH, a non-profit, non-sectarian organization, operates hospitals at Harlan, Hazard, McDowell, Middlesboro, and Whitesburg, Ky. The hospitals formerly were owned by the Miners Memorial Hospital Association. ARH plans to acquire five more MMHA hospitals in Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia on July 1.

A principal objective of the Council is to work with Dr. O. J. Wilson, assistant executive director of ARH, in raising $4,280,000 to finance 18 ARH training programs for physicians and paramedical personnel over the next five years.

Dr. Wilson, who is in charge of ARH development and education, said the council represents another effort "to find solutions to the staggering problems which afflict the entire Appalachian region and whose blight has been so widespread in scope and so long in duration as to affect seriously the health of a large segment of our people."

Dr. Karl S. Klicka, executive director of ARH, expressed be-

Eleven Injured In Accident Saturday Night

Eleven people were hospitalized Saturday night as the result of a head-on collision that occurred one mile South of Jeff.

The accident occurred when Samuel Morgan of Leslie County lost control of the 1959 Chevrolet he was driving and crashed head-on into a 1947 Plymouth driven by Howell Toler of Cody.

The Toler car carried eight passengers six of whom were children. There was one passenger in the Morgan car. Both cars were totally demolished.

Coal Production Up 8.01 Per Cent Over Last Year

Coal production in the Hazard Field amounted to 181,810 tons during the week ended April 25, 1964 bringing the total for the year to date to 2,554,610 tons.

In announcing the figures, the Hazard Coal Operators Association said the week's production was 8.01 per cent above the 168,330 tons mined during the corresponding week last year. Production for the year to date indicates an increase of 18.80 per cent over the 2,150,310 tons at the same date last year.

Tonnages are computed on a 50 tons per car basis and are subject to adjustment.

Ashland Contractor Says Courthouse Bid Wrong By $100,000

A bid of $722,500 has been tentatively accepted by Perry Fiscal Court for the construction of the new county courthouse.

But the low-bidding contractor, W. D. Johnson, of Ashland, sought to withdraw his bid, Friday, after an overnight check of his figures revealed an alleged "mistake" worth $100,000.

Johnson's bid was $117,360 lower than his closest competitor, Barco Inc. of Lexington, who bid $839,860 for the courthouse contract.

With Johnson's bid so far below the other estimates, he was given a twenty four hour period in which to double-check his figures, on the advice of a federal official on hand to oversee the opening of the bids.

Johnson reappeared before the Fiscal Court Friday afternoon and submitted the following letter:

"As you know when the bids for the new Court House were opened yesterday afternoon there was an obvious mistake in my bid of $722,500. I returned to Ashland last night (Thursday) and checked my figures and found that I had used a base figure of $439,508 in computing my total bid instead of the correct figure of $539,508."

"Since my mistaken bid of $722,500 has not been accepted, I hereby withdraw and rescind this bid. My bid should be in the sum of $822,500."

But the Court went ahead and accepted Johnson's original bid, on a tentative basis. The bid will now be submitted for approval to the Atlanta, Georgia office of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, which is providing the nearly $900,000 to finance Perry County's new courthouse.

County Attorney Calvin Manis said this morning that Johnson's withdrawal of his bid may have raised knotty legal questions that could complicate further progress on the courthouse.

Johnson is bonded in the courthouse negotiations for $36,125, or five per cent of his original bid.

If the Housing and Home Finance Agency approves the bid the county has accepted, a contract for the job will be offered to the Johnson firm.

Johnson has several alternative courses of action.

He could forfeit his bond and not sign the contract; he could ask the courts to excuse his alleged error and up his bid $100,000; or he could build the courthouse, according to the present bid, for $722,500.

Johnson could not be reached in Ashland by phone today.

High bid at the Thursday openings was entered by the Forcum-Lannon firm of Dyersburg, Tennessee, in the amount of $864,200.

Five Hospitals To Operate On Non-Profit Basis

The five Miners Memorial Hospital Association hospitals in Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia, to be acquired by Appalachian Regional Hospitals by July 1, "will be operated as voluntary, non-profit community hospitals," according to Dr. Karl S. Klicka, ARH president.

In addition, he said, "local responsibility will be assumed by local advisory councils now being formed; all qualified physicians will be invited to apply for staff membership, and each medical staff will be organized on an autonomous basis."

Dr. Klicka made this announcement after the ARH board of trustees, meeting at Middlesboro, Ky., was informed that the federal Area Redevelopment Administration had approved a $4.1 million loan to ARH for purchase of the hospitals.

He said that the 40-year loan, at 5/8 per cent interest, definitely assures ARH acquisition of the MMHA hospitals at Pikeville and South Williamson, Ky.; Beckley and Man, W. Va., and Wise, Va.

Dr. Klicka reported that plans are being developed for integration of the hospitals into the ARH system without any interruption of service to their communities. ARH already is operating five community hospitals in Eastern Kentucky—at Harlan, Hazard, McDowell, Middlesboro and Whitesburg. These were acquired from MMHA last October 1.

The ARH trustees received an optimistic report on the progress of the five hospitals now in the system. Patient occupancy increased from 68.3 per cent of the 448 beds in October to 85.1 per cent in March.

Garvie D. Kincaid, Lexington, Ky., financier and philanthropist and a native of Eastern Kentucky (Lee County), was elected chairman of the board of trustees. Five persons were added to the 12-member board, including Mrs. John Sherman Cooper of Somerset, Ky., wife of the United States Senator; Herndon J. Evans, editor of the Lexington (Ky.) Herald, and E. Minor Pace, general manager of Inland Steel Corporation coal properties at Wheelwright, Ky.

Lon B. Rogers, a Pikeville, Ky., attorney, was re-elected vice-chairman of the board; Maurice K. Henry, publisher of the Middlesboro (Ky.) Daily News, was named treasurer, and Rev. Dr. James A. Mosk of Lexington, Ky., was named secretary.

The board changed the title of Dr. Klicka from executive director to president. Two assistant executive directors — Dr. O. J. Wilson of Lexington and Jay G. Cokerly of Washington, D. C. — were changed to vice presidents.

The trustees arranged for students in the ARH School of Professional Nursing at Harlan, Ky., to do their first year of academic study in the Community College at Cumberland, Ky., operated as a branch of the University of Kentucky. Cumberland is only 22 miles from Harlan. Until now the students have put in their first year at Morehead State College, 90 miles from Harlan. The trustees felt the change would stimulate enrollment and increase efficiency.

The Trustees decided "with reluctance" to discontinue negotiations with the Order of Benedictine Sisters aimed at joint operation of one community hospital at Hazard, Ky. Both ARH and the Order maintain hospitals in Hazard. President Klicka reported that the Sisters had evidenced little interest in ARH's invitation to work with them.

Social security beneficiaries that hope to receive their social security checks on time each month should make certain the Social Security Administration is kept informed on their correct mailing address.

Most persons receiving social security payments are alert and promptly report any changes of address, but many according to Francis A. McDougal, Acting District Manager of the Hazard, Kentucky office fail to report their new address when moving. Others, Mr. McDougal pointed out, do not notify the Social Security Administration when the post office makes a change in the route, box, or street number.

Many times when the address on the check is incorrect, the Post Office will return it to the Treasury Department for re-mailing. There is also the greater possibility that the check may be lost or stolen. In either case, the beneficiary doesn't receive the check on time and this may cause him unnecessary hardship if he is dependent on it for all or part of his livelihood.

Mr. McDougal advised that all persons in this area receiving social security payments notify the Social Security Administration of a change in address as quickly as possible after any move. Those persons whose checks are being received at an incorrect address should have it corrected immediately. Any change in the address must be reported in writing over the beneficiary's signature. This may be on any kind of paper, but most persons receiving payments were given a post card form specifically for this when they originally filed their claim.

Mr. McDougal said that persons reporting a change should show the complete address, including the ZIP code and also the social security number of the person on whose account the benefits are being received. This, Mr. McDougal points out, will speed the process of change and thereby lessen the possibility of lost checks. Also, all changes of address should be reported to the Post Office. This will aid that department in forwarding the check or other mail if it should be mailed to the former address.

If any beneficiary has any questions regarding his address or other social security matters, he should write, visit or phone the local office located at 135 Memorial Drive. The phone number is 436-3148 or 436-3149.

Garden Club Hears Shoemaker On Forestry, Resources

Mr. Lyle Shoemaker, Division of Forestry was the guest speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Mountain View Garden Club held at the Bobby Davis Library on Tuesday, April 28th. Mr. Shoemaker, speaking on "Conservation", said the word means the wise use of natural resources, particularly forestry.

When the earliest settlers landed on American shores, forests covered nearly all of the land, wood was abundant for the asking, and as a result this caused a pushing back of the forests to make room for settlements. Forestry in Kentucky is relatively a new movement, founded about 1912, to encourage better management of Kentucky woodlands. It has attempted to reduce the number and severity of forest fires.

Perry County alone had 150 forest fires during the year 1963. Ranger Units, towers, trucks equipped with radios are helping to alleviate part of this danger. The forestry division's helping in the unemployment parent program by planting trees and aiding in putting out forest fires.

In the tree planting category, Perry County led the state for many years, and is still high at the top of the list. The state has three nurseries producing tree seedlings at the present time.

He closed by saying as tall oaks from little acorns grow, the work of conservation has grown from a tiny beginning to a great movement, extending its benefits in all directions. Mr. Shoemaker also thanked the club for their support to the Division of Forestry.

During the business session with Mrs. L. D. Gorman, President, presiding reports were given on the state meeting of the Garden Club of Kentucky which was held at Cumberland Falls. Mrs. Gorman stated that the Mountain View Club won the standard of Excellence award and that the club also furnished flowers and helped with the arrangements for the banquet.

She also discussed plans for the Open House to be held in Hazard on May 14th—two of the members homes are to be open to the public, that of Mrs. George Kawaja and Mrs. Floyd P. Hall. Tickets may be purchased from any Club member.

Mrs. Glenn Reynolds, State Book Chairman for the Garden Club of Kentucky read the report she gave at the recent meeting. A report on the flowers for the hanging baskets to be placed on Main Street with in the next week or two was given by Mrs. M. B. Fields, Chairman.

Mrs. John L. Ray was hostess for the meeting which was attended by fifteen members and one guest.

Dear Jenny:

It's good that you are interested in helping your friend's friend find joy and fellowship with Jesus, but I can understand how a young person would find it hard to know what to say. I'm going to type something out for you to give him and perhaps it will help some. I'm glad you told me something about his background.

Dear Friend:

Do you remember back when you were little, singing "Jesus Loves Me"? There was no question in your heart that Jesus Loved you. You believed it with all your heart and soul. And when you heard the story of Jesus using the little boy's lunch to feed 5000 people, you thrilled at Jesus making such a little bit of food feed so many people. You never doubted that it was a miracle. You believed it really happened.

Later, when you were older and began to run with those who scoffed, you hid your love for Jesus in a remote recess of your heart and never gave it a chance to grow because you had learned to scoff too.

You succeeded in kidding yourself for a while. For many years the things you did and the places where you went kept Jesus buried far down in your heart and every time there was a tug from that spot you pushed it back and tried to believe it wasn't there.

Now dear friend, perhaps you are in trouble, or depressed and puzzled, and you are trying to find the answer to the riddle of life. Perhaps you remember that child-like faith you once had and wonder how you can get back to that place in your life when Jesus meant something to you.

Why not try singing that little chorus again, and think of the simplicity of the words: "Yes, Jesus loves me. Yes, Jesus loves me. Yes, Jesus loves me, the Bible tells me so."

Jesus truly loves you and no matter where you are or how you got there, He will prove His love for you by forgiving your sins when you come to Him in the simple, child-like faith you once had, asking Him to forgive the past and make you a new creation. He never turns anyone away.

Remember John 3:16? Try saying it this way: For God so loved YOU that He gave His only begotten Son that if You believe in Him YOU shall never perish but have everlasting life.

A new creation! A brand clean slate! A wonderful, beautiful life in Christ! It is all yours for the asking. Ask Him today.

Jenny, tell him that there are many, many people who have come to the same place in life that he has, but not everyone finds the right answer to their problems. I will be praying that he will remember and believe in Christ.

Love,

HEA Holds Final Meet For Year, April 29th

The Hazard Educational Association held its final meeting of the year on Wednesday afternoon, April 29, in the Conference Room at the Central Offices of the Hazard City Schools. Mrs. H. E. Greer, Sr., retiring president of the Association, had charge of the meeting.

During the business portion of the meeting, Mrs. Greer presented certificates of appreciation to the following members for their outstanding work in furthering the welfare of the school system: Miss Eva Smith, Director of Pupil Personnel; Mrs. Lester Eversole, office secretary; and Mr. Roy G. Eversole, Superintendent.

Following these presentations new officers were elected to serve during the coming year. Elected were Mr. Wallace Francis, President Elect, and Mrs. Carlene Shackelford, secretary. Harlan Stone was installed as the new president.

Mr. Stone took charge of the program for the meeting. He gave a report on the work of the Delegate Assembly of the Kentucky Education Association, of which he was a member, which met earlier this month in Louisville.

He then presented Miss Grazia Combs who gave a talk on "Professionalism." Mr. Estill McIntyre who reported on the meeting of the Kentucky Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development, which met in Louisville during K.E.A., and Mr. Roy G. Eversole who gave a report on the proposed use by K.E.A. of an increase in dues that was voted by the Delegate Assembly.

The final part of the program consisted of the presentation, by Mrs. Greer, of a gift and a certificate of appreciation to Mrs. Emma B. Ross. These were presented on behalf of the members of the Hazard Education Association in appreciation of Mrs. Ross' thirty-eight years of service to the Hazard City Schools. Mrs. Ross will retire at the end of this school year.

Allais Homemakers Hold Monthly Meet At Smith Home

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Florine Adkins, Vice-President. Mrs. Ralph Bartlett gave the devotional which was the 23rd Psalm. The club also voted on the lessons for the new year, which begins in August.

As the kitchen is the most-lived-in room in the home, Mrs. Hillard Barnett gave the lesson on how to care for the wood and plastic items in the kitchen. She also explained how to keep it clean and the interior decorating of the room.

German chocolate cake and coffee were served to the following members: Mrs. Jack Caudill, Mrs. R. M. Elam, Mrs. Stella Grundy, Mrs. Floyd Hurst, Mrs. Bartle Melton, Mrs. Ken Terry, Mrs. Florine Adkins, and Mrs. Hillard Barnett.

Girl Scout Fund Drive Starts Tuesday

Volunteer workers mapped final plans today for the Hazard Girl Scout fund raising campaign which will begin tomorrow.
Under the leadership of Mr.
L. A. Hopper, assisted by Mrs.
M. B. Payne, they will seek donations to finance the work of local Girl Scout Troops throughout the coming year.
The contributions will be used by the Wilderness Road Girl Scout Council to provide additional Scout Troops, train volunteer adult leaders, maintain camp facilities, provide professional staff assistance and generally improve the local Scouting program.
Similar fund-raising campaigns are being conducted this month in a number of other counties in the Council.

Kentucky Vying for "Land of Lakes" Title

GREENBO LAKE at Greenbo Lake State Park, near Ashland, is one of the 30 reservoirs constructed by the State in a Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources program. The Department's Division of Fisheries stocked it with five species of fish. A beach and modern bathhouse and boat docks are other facilities on the 225-acre lake.
Camping sites also are available at the park. Statewide, a total of more than 100 public lakes already in use, under construction, or planned will offer more than 300,000 liquid acres for swimming, fishing, boating, and other water recreation.

Know Your Cat Breeds

Scientific color breeding has added new breeds to the cat family.
Two of these new breeds are the Himalayan and the Rex. The Himalayan is a long-haired cat with Siamese markings. The Rex is a very rare short-hair type. It has a coat with small, deep waves right down to its tail.
Here are some of the better known cat breeds:
The Siamese: Lean and lithe,
it has clear brilliant blue eyes, pale body and shaded points. The points range in color from seal brown to blue-grey and pale mauve.
The Burmese: Its short-haired coat is plushy and sable brown.
Its eyes are golden and its body and head are similar to the Siamese.
The Long-Hair or Persian:
Ideally, it has a large, round head, short snub nose, wide eyes, small ears, a boxy body and short legs. Its fluffy coat is particularly long around the neck and tail.
The Manx: A native of the isle of Man, it has short hair and absolutely no tail. Its long hind legs give it a distinctive hopping gait.
The Abyssinian: A rare cat with a coat of russet, ticked with black. Its eyes are hazel, green or gold and it strongly resembles the sacred cats of ancient Egypt.
The Domestic Short-Hair: It may not have a pedigree, but it is loved by owners all over America and the world. Short-haired, it comes in every imaginable—and even unimaginable—color.

Early Settlers In Kentucky Brought Dulcimers With Them

The early settlers who threaded their way between the mountains into Eastern Kentucky knew few luxuries. Food and living were frugal for these people who lived on what was then the Western frontier. The rule of "make do or do without" generally applied.

Happily for us, these settlers did not do without their music. There was always singing. And for instruments, the more enterprising contrived banjos from crook-neck guards and fiddles out of corn stalks.

It seems however that at least one instrument was carried over the mountains, along with food, clothing and a few other essentials. That instrument is the dulcimer, still made and played in many homes throughout the Southern Appalachians.

Most dulcimers found today have three strings. One string is noted or finger to change its tone. It is then played along with the other strings, which usually sound the same tone in a "drone" accompaniment. The elongated instrument, frequently made of walnut or cherry, rests in the player's lap or on a table before him.

For such a simple instrument, the dulcimer has a complicated family history. In the past, it has been played with a bow, like a fiddle, or with small hammer-like devices (the forerunner of our modern piano). Tradition once decreed that a goose quill be used as a gander quill for playing the strings. But many say today that a limber split from a cane-bottom chair does as well for playing.

Dulcimers are found in various shapes which generally reflect their origin via the British Isles or direct from Norway, Sweden or Germany. Some are softly flared or have double curves. Some are narrow triangles. Others are elongated rectangles.

Kentucky has given the nation many well-known dulcimer players, both past and present. One of the best-known today is John Jacob Niles of Lexington whose dulcimers have a half dozen or more strings for greater range. (John played for us last year at the National Folk Festival in Covington.)

Jean Ritchie, youngest member of the Singing Ritchies of Viper, Ky., has sung and played her dulcimer around the world and has researched the history of the instrument.

John is an old hand at making dulcimers, as are many other players. The growing colony of dulcimer players around the country also pluck instruments made by Jethro Amburgey and others at Hindman Settlement School and by Homer Ledford of Berea College Industries.

How wrong was the Kentuckian who in 1925 wrote, "the dulcimer is an instrument formerly used, but now rapidly falling into decay."

Many of the same tunes played in 1925, or in 1825, are still played today. "Barbara Allen," for example. And "Go Tell Aunt Rhody," "Shady Grove" and "Old Joe Clarke." The dulcimer can carry a tune alone and is also a charming accompaniment for the ballad singer.
